

Over Million Aid Roosevelt Memorial Plan

1,036,000 Children in
5,200 Schools Celebrated Colonel's Birthday in Ohio, Association Says

Compilation of Figures of Membership and Money to Be Made by End of Week

Reports received by the Roosevelt Memorial Association, which yesterday entered the second week of its canvass for funds to erect memorials to Colonel Roosevelt, indicated that the children of the nation particularly responded during Roosevelt Week to the invitation to honor the Colonel's memory. More than 300,000 meetings were held on Roosevelt Day, and in Ohio alone more than 1,076,000 children in 5,200 schools celebrated the Colonel's sixty-first birthday. More than 190 schools in Manhattan, with attendance of some 274,000 children, held exercises, about 95 per cent of the children reached being of foreign-born parents. Ninety-two schools in Manhattan were presented with large photographs of the Colonel.

Children of foreign-born parents in Manhattan yesterday were reported contributing to the memorial fund in sums of 1, 2, 5 and 10 cents each. The decision to continue the canvass was made yesterday when it was found impossible to tabulate any sort of financial statement on results of the campaign before noon Saturday. Thousands of applications for membership were pouring in at 1 Madison Avenue, headquarters of the Memorial Association.

All to Receive Certificates
Owing to the large number of contributions under a dollar, the association announced that any one who contributed even a cent to the memorial fund would receive a certificate of membership. Many stores, banks, factories and business offices, it was said, have enrolled 100 per cent of their personnel, although in many cases contributions were of 25 and 50 cents each.

"I know Theodore Roosevelt, if he were alive, would rather have a million dollars subscribed in dime by ten million children than to have ten million dollars subscribed by ten millionaires," said Colonel William Boyce Thompson, president of the association. "It would be unjust to little cash girls in the department stores, to office boys and apprentices, who cannot afford to give more than a dime or a quarter, if they did not receive the same recognition as members of the association as that accorded to the donors of thousands."

"What has been accomplished in the gathering of millions of people to listen last week to a brief statement of Theodore Roosevelt's doctrines of Americanism has been worth untold millions to the country already."

T. Frank Manville, chairman of the metropolitan committee of the association, said yesterday.

"We have never been nearer to a social revolution than it is now. I am confident that the promulgation of Colonel Roosevelt's ideals and doctrines will materially aid in restoring the people of this country to their traditional steadiness and balance."

More than 1,000,000 persons already have joined the association, Colonel Thompson said. More than 60,000 have enrolled in Montana, 25,000 in California and 60,000 in New Jersey. One county in Georgia allotted a quota of $200 has already raised more than $4,000, twenty per cent of the undergraduates at Yale University have joined.

New York City is lagging in the campaign, the association announced yesterday. This was attributed partially to the inability to get members' blanks, owing to the printers' strike. More than 9,000 applications came in yesterday, it was stated, and reports were received from churches, schools and theatres holding meetings. Belief was expressed by the association that when final figures were tabulated New York City would be found in the lead in honoring the Colonel's memory.

A meeting attended by more than 1,000 boys was held last night at the New York Boys' Club, Tenth Street and Avenue A. Representative Isaac Siegel was the principal speaker. Other speakers were Thomas W. Churchill and Theodore Douglas Robinson, Murray's restaurant is cooperating in the campaign by exhibiting a photograph of the Colonel and a number of excerpts from his writings.

Speakers' Club Gives Dinner
The Speakers' Club, most of the members of which were Four-Minute Men during the war, honored the memory of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt at a dinner given last night at Murray's Roman Garden, in West Forty-second Street. Every member of the club has joined the Roosevelt Memorial Association.

A program of speaking and music opened with "America" and closed with "The Star Spangled Banner" was rendered. Louis Dolle Molle, of the Metropolitan Opera Company, sang, assisted by Professor Remo Tarverna. Members of the club spoke briefly on Colonel Roosevelt's versatility as soldier, peacemaker, diplomat, idealist, writer, statesman, world politician, speaker, economist, builder of the Panama Canal, naturalist, administrator, ex-President, moral teacher and maker of enemies. A. Stephen Aaronstamm, president of the club, presided. "Already we miss his counsel," said Mr. Aaronstamm. "He was the foremost soldier of the common good. He will be the future ideal of the American boy."

BERLIN, Sept. 23 (By The Associated Press).—Under the caption of "The Murder of Berlin," the "Boerser Zeitung," one of the ablest German newspapers, says the fate of the city is in the balance and that it is, perhaps, too late to save it from becoming a city of the second class in every respect.

with the removal of the capital and the activity in a business and political sense to some Rhineland city. It is a theory that has been gaining ground lately and causing Berlin to lose sleep. "One day," the financial paper adds, "there will be a fearful awakening if the problem that confronts us is not recognized and solved by the twelfth hour. The problem is to save Berlin from destruction."

The paper then cites the January riots by the Spartacists, from the wounds of which Berlin has never recovered. Then came the March disorders, followed by the July transportation strike which threw Berlin into a chaotic state. It strikes the twelfth hour. The problem is to save Berlin from destruction.

Despite the huge expense, one industry after another left Berlin for quieter, steadier fields. Now the winter months are coming, already full of threats of uprisings and strikes. Merchants, politicians and industrial leaders have predicted that the transfer of the Assembly or Reichstag would inflict a severe blow upon Berlin, especially if it should lead to the choice of another capital.

The label "imperial capital," and its enormous labor possibilities have been Berlin's chief claims to superiority. It has been the industrial heart of the empire. Yet, say manufacturers, labor is now systematically laming industry and destroying it.

Funeral of D. F. Healy Held

The funeral of Dominick F. Healy, forty-seven, a real estate dealer of 813 Cauldwell Avenue, the Bronx, who was run over and killed early Saturday morning by an "L" train at Jamaica Avenue and 102d Street, Brooklyn, was held yesterday morning in the St. Peter and Paul Roman Catholic Church. A requiem mass was celebrated by the Rev. Father Thomas F. Duffy. The little wooden church was crowded with Mr. Healy's friends. Governor Alfred E. Smith, who was a lifelong friend of the deceased, was unable to attend the funeral but sent a telegram of condolence to the family. Mr. Healy was born in the old Fourth Ward, on the East Side, where he lived until about ten years ago, when he removed to Cauldwell Avenue with his sister, Mrs. Mortimer Lynch, the only surviving member of the family. Upon the death of his father several years ago Mr. Healy was left a share of an estate estimated at about $200,000, and he invested that money in New York real estate. Among those at the services were Tom Foley, leader of the Second Assembly District; Congressman Daniel Alderman; Assemblyman Peter Hammill; Alderman Michael Stapleton; Magistrate Thomas N. N. and Mr. Henry Bruckner, wife of the Borough President of the Bronx. Interment took place in Calvary Cemetery.

O'Malley Is Indorsed By Many Noted Lawyers

Appeal Issued for His Election as Surrogate by Leaders of New York Bar

Charles E. Hughes, former Justice of the United States Supreme Court; George W. Wickersham, former United States Attorney General; Henry W. Sackett, Ogden L. Mills, Frederick C. Tanner and many other well known lawyers yesterday issued a call to public spirited citizens of all parties to support the candidacy of James O'Malley for Surrogate of New York County. They direct attention to the indorsement of Mr. O'Malley by the Bar Association, the New York Lawyers' Association and the Citizens Union, and declare:

"The issue in this campaign is whether Mr. Murphy shall make and unmake judges. The Surrogates' Court has jurisdiction of the estates of decedents and is administered by two Surrogates. The public interest requires that this important judicial office be filled by a man not only highly trained in the law, but also free from close political connections. "Mr. O'Malley is forty-five years old. For three years he was secretary to Justice Laughlin, of the Appellate Division, and for seven years he was Assistant District Attorney of New York County, engaged in the active trial of many important cases.

"We have the highest confidence in the character and independence as well as in the legal ability of Mr. O'Malley, and we recommend his election as the surest way for the voters to obtain an independent and able administration of the duties of this important office." The appeal is signed by Charles E. Hughes, Henry W. Taft, William N. Cohen, Henry W. Sackett, George W. Kirchwey, Richard T. Greene, Nathaniel Phillips, Ogden L. Mills, Mortimer C. Addams, C. L. Schurz, Frederick C. Tanner, Arthur B. Spingarn, George W. Wickersham, John Kirkland Clark, Henry W. Jessup, Nathan Ottenger, Isidor Wasservogel, Edward J. McGuire, Rufus H. Choate, Francis S. Binghamton Is Swept
By Miniature Tornado

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Oct. 28.—A miniature tornado struck Binghamton today, wrecking wires of the telephone and telegraph and cutting off the city from its supply of electricity. It tore off the roof of the Delaware & Hudson Railroad roundhouse, a section 300 feet square being carried across the street. Nearly all the windows in the building were broken, but the employees were uninjured.

14,000 Boilermakers Join Shipyard Strike

They Demand 44-Hour Week and $1 an Hour, Announcement Says

Fourteen thousand boilermakers have joined the general strike of shipyard workers who have been out since October 1, according to an announcement last night at the headquarters of the Metal Trades Council at 82 Duane Street. The men demand a forty-four hour week and $1 an hour. When the general strike order was issued at the beginning of the month the boilermakers did not go out because they could not get the sanction of their international officers. The international officers last week ordered the New York locals to take a strike vote.

Although the result of this vote has not yet been announced, many members of the union went out when the shipyard owners began employing strikebreakers.
